TEI By Example

TEI by Example. Module 3

Edward Vanhoutte
Ron Van den Branden
Melissa Terras

Centre for Scholarly Editing and Document Studies (CTB), Royal Academy of Dutch Language and Literature, Belgium, Gent, 9 July 2010

Last modified on: 2017-09-01
Licensed under a Creative Commons Attribution ShareAlike 3.0 License
TABLE OF CONTENTS

3. Semantics ............................................................................................................................ 1
Most encoders of prose want to encode more than just the document structure. Dates, names, places, events, organisations, titles of books, movies, and plays, for instance, frequently appear in prose and may need to be encoded. The TEI Guidelines propose appropriate elements for all these features. A tutorial on these elements and their use can be found in module 1: Introduction.